United Airlines and US Airways are already in bankruptcy. With a possible war in Iraq, others may soon follow. Our country's aviation industry will then be in even more turmoil. And so will your travel plans.

If flights are canceled, how will your job or business be affected?

Taxes and unfunded security costs are hurting the airline industry. In time, they will hurt you.

Congress has imposed additional taxes and mandated security costs on airlines — adding up to $39 per ticket. Fuel and insurance costs have also skyrocketed.

That's making it impossible for airlines to survive and for thousands of their employees to keep their jobs. And when working families lose their jobs, your community suffers.

It's time to provide legislative relief for all airlines, their employees and our economy.

- ✓ Remove the burden of security taxes imposed after September 11.
- ✓ Don't force airlines to bear the full added security costs.
- ✓ Relieve increased fuel and insurance costs.
- ✓ Provide extended unemployment benefits.
- ✓ Help laid-off families cover health care costs.
- ✓ Assist furloughed employees with job re-training.

Tell Congress to act now — before it's too late.

Relieve these crushing burdens on the airline industry, its employees, and the nation's economy.

Call your Senators and Representatives; tell them to save the airlines NOW.
